Alaska Pastors are my Heros

As I think back through the years of the pastors who have influenced me the most, many names come to mind. Among them are men like Felton Griffin, Kip McConnell, James Akin, Glen Little, Harley Shields, Don Rollins and Earl Midkiff. Most of these men have finished their race and received their final reward in heaven. While I have known and served with pastors in Texas, Virginia, and Russia, Alaska pastors have impacted my life in extraordinary ways.

What is that element or quality that left such an indelible impression on my life? Some of them were great preachers; some, visionary men; all were godly men who were spiritual giants in their own right. But the thing that strikes me most about their lives is their resilience and humility. These men didn't serve megachurches like we know today. Most of them served in small churches, in inconspicuous communities scattered across Alaska. Their tenures didn't just span 3-4 years, which is the average among Southern Baptist pastors in the 21st century. They served decades in one place with enormous challenges that would test the greatest of men. Yet they remained faithful.

They embodied the character of the apostle Paul in the sense that they "became all things to all people..." (1 Cor 9:22) in order to lead some to salvation. Weekly tasks included so much more than sermon preparation. Visitation to church members might include a long ride on a snowmachine or dogsled in sub-zero temperatures. Longer trips to nearby communities where they led remote Bible studies didn't involve computers – it involved flying in small bush planes usually in inclement weather. It required them to be mechanics, innovators and pioneers with limited resources. Their calling required them to be rugged men who could face the daily challenges of living in a wilderness frontier. The thought, "This can't be done!" never entered their minds. They were men of action.

Alaska has changed in the few decades since these men have lived and served. Perhaps there are more conveniences and developments that have reduced some of these challenges, but Alaska is still a frontier. Many remote communities continue to endure without a consistent gospel witness through a local pastor-led church in their midst. We are compelled to ask the question, "What's it going to take to reach our state with the gospel of Jesus Christ?"

It will take men who know God's calling to go to the difficult places and plant their lives in order to impact a community with the message of hope and salvation. Yes, it will take men who can teach and preach the Word of God. Yes, it will take men who have been trained in Biblical doctrine. But it will also take humble men who aren't seeking recognition, fame, and a reputation beyond their own community. It will require resilient men who are willing to accept the challenges of living far from the families and communities where they were raised. It will demand men who can face the challenges and difficulties with a "can-do" attitude knowing that God is sufficient in every circumstance. Those men are Alaska pastors with whom I have the privilege of serving every day. They are my heroes!

Serving Together in Alaska

Seek the Lord while He may be found...Is 55:6
“Let’s just go around the next point...” an often-used statement when beach combing with my wife (who shall remain nameless to protect the guilty).

Driven by the desire to discover some imagined beach treasure washed ashore by winter storms we march onward into the unknown relentlessly searching for the prize.

Each time that we embark is a new adventure. Rarely are two trips, even to the same area, identical. With each storm and each tide new treasures appear. Some are surprises, others are expected, and some are true blessings. Beauty, they say, is in the eye of the beholder and similarly one man’s trash is another man’s treasure. Unfortunately, there is much trash discovered along the beaches, but among the cast away, blown away and thrown away occasionally there will be an astounding treasure.

Jesus instructed us in Matthew 6:19-21;

“Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy and where thieves break in and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys and where thieves do not break in and steal. For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

I am convicted that sometimes my zeal to search for earthly treasure outweighs my zeal to search for heavenly treasure. I pray that my passion to seek and to find will be used to seek and find people in need of a Savior and to invest in the true treasure of Expanding God’s Kingdom and not my own.

Often it is difficult to keep on searching when it seems there is nothing to find. Sometimes pressing on around that next point or towards that next person seems foolish in the moment. Frequently it seems that I have gone too far, given too much, exhausted all of my energy and still have nothing to show for the effort and investment.

When I am tired, weary of trying, ready to give out, give in and give up, very often in that moment I look around, and God gives me that which I am seeking... or something even better.

In this life God commands that we love Him with all of our heart, soul and mind and that we love our neighbor just as we love ourselves. That can seem impossible and be exhausting at times. But when we seek Him with all of our heart, He promises that we can find Him.

What greater treasure could we possibly seek?

MILEPOST MOMENTS

Roots Family Church rang in the new year by hosting a community New Year's Eve Party at Ammo-Can Coffee in Soldotna. The church, started two years ago by Jim and Stephanie Boyd, has outgrown their home with over seventy-five people and launched Sunday services at Ammo-Can Coffee on February 7, 2021. The church also launched a student-led youth group on Tuesday nights at Ammo-Can Coffee targeting unchurched youth. They saw ninety-four in attendance January 26. Roots' New Year's Eve Party targeted the families of these youth. Pray for Roots Family Church as they move to Ammo-Can Coffee with a focus to reach these unchurched youth and their parents. The New Year's Eve party was a huge success with close to one-hundred-twenty people from the community in attendance.

University Baptist Church, Fairbanks

In February, the Fairbanks University Baptist Church's Central Hub opened! All information from or about the church can now be found in one central place - their website, UBCFairbanks.com. They also installed a kiosk in the foyer so those without computer or reliable internet could still sign up for events, volunteer, or find the information they are looking for. Users will be able to give online to the Annie Armstrong Mission Offering, contact a staff member, or view current or past sermons. Right now, young adults are using the site to register for the Young Adult's Spring Retreat at Globe Creek Camp March 5-7, and they will soon be able to find out more information on the Young Adult's Castner Glacier Hike planned for March 27.

Several new groups have formed: a Ladies Community Group with a Bible Study in James, and a prayer group meeting twice monthly to pray for the growth and ministries of University Baptist Church, for Fairbanks, for Alaska, and for our country, as well as missions in other countries and for personal prayer requests when they are shared.

Alma McClendon passed away in January of this year. Alma was the wife of Lewis McClendon who served as Director of Missions for Tongass Baptist Association 1980-1991. Lewis went to be with the Lord in 2008.

2000 Club First Quarter 2021

First Baptist Church, Kenai

Funds will assist with critical parsonage repairs caused by the earthquake 11/30/2018. They will be remodeling and repairing the dining/kitchen area. This space is used for extended ministry and a meeting point for small groups and one on one discipleship. After the earthquake and an electrical fire the space needs to be completely renovated to make it more useful and safe.

The purpose of the 2000 Club is to provide funds for selected Alaska Baptist Churches to purchase property, or to renovate or repair their church facilities. Sponsored by the Alaska Baptist Resource Network, the 2000 Club provides a channel through which Southern Baptists work together in a cooperative mission strategy. Funds collected are sent directly to the designated mission project recipient at the end of each month. 100 percent of contributions goes to the recipient for the quarter.

Participating in the 2000 Club is easy! Simply go to our website www.alaskabrnr.com, click on the green "Give" button at the top of the page, choose "2000 Club" from the drop-down menu, and in the memo area note for which quarter you are donating or make a one-time gift for all 4 quarters.

If you prefer to give by check, make your check payable to the Alaska Baptist Resource Network and mark it for the 2000 Club. Please note the quarter for which you are contributing. Mail payment to 1750 O'Malley Road, Anchorage, Alaska 99507. For additional information, contact us at 907.344.9627, 800.883.9627, or heather@alaskabrnr.com.
