Missions: the Heartbeat of the Cooperative Program

Prior to the organization of the Southern Baptist Convention in 1845, foreign and domestic mission efforts were generally carried out by small mission(ary) societies. These groups were made up of volunteers who personally contributed to specific mission projects in certain locations. They mainly focused on financially supporting missionaries, partnering with ministries around the world, and helping bring awareness to unreached people groups. The earliest mission societies date back as far as the late 1700s and were originally started in the British Isles.

Mission societies were instrumental in raising the banner for missional engagement by promoting the concept that the Great Commission was not just for missionaries, but for all believers. These organizations had varying levels of strategic engagement and limited focus based on the resources of the society. Members of the society voted to approve to whom, where and how much of their available assets would be applied to particular mission efforts. If members had a connection personally with a missionary or ministry organization, they would channel a significant portion of funds to this effort. Unfortunately, this created a climate of competition among missionaries and organizations to solicit funding for their specific ministries.

There is no doubt that the organization of the Southern Baptist Convention was created in response to disagreements about the issue of slavery. In recent years, the SBC has denounced racism and repudiated its past defense of slavery and opposition to the civil rights movement.

However, the mission imperative has been foundational to its early development and has provided the impetus that has led to unprecedented growth in America and global expansion of the gospel.

Decentralized mission societies were replaced with mission boards formed to assist missionaries and entities with support and strategic engagement. The Cooperative Program (CP) was initiated in 1925 as a tool for pooling the resources of SBC affiliated churches to provide a unified and comprehensive budget for the support of Baptist missionaries. It has eliminated the element of competing for available resources and has led to a long-held Baptist principle that “we can do more together than alone.”

The International Mission Board (IMB) receives 51 percent of all CP gifts from SBC churches. Along with these funds, the IMB collects funds through the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering which combined provides the operating budget of $255 million for 2020-21. These funds provide support for over 3,600 international missionaries along with essential resources for projects around the world.

The North American Mission Board (NAMB) focuses on mission work and church planting in North America and receives 23 percent of CP gifts and supplements its $99.8 million budget with the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering.

As we approach the 100th anniversary of the Cooperative Program, it has proven to be the most effective way of engaging a lost world with the gospel of Jesus Christ. With 73 percent of CP funds going to mission involvement, there can be no doubt that missions is the heartbeat of the Cooperative Program.

COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

Better Late than Never

I used to argue that notion by saying “better never than late”, but recently I have begun to favor the former.

Scripture teaches us that “to everything there is a season, a time and place for everything under the sun.” I agree with that teaching although I do not always agree with the timing of things which do not line up with my expectations or preferences.

Take this spring season for example. Old man winter did his dead level best to hold on for as long as possible before relenting and giving way to above freezing temperatures and hopes of warmer and snowless days to come.

Amazon packages and items such as last-minute payments sent via the postal service are also items that tend to arrive or be delivered later than I would like. Airline departure and arrival times, birthday cards, tax refunds and big game drawing tags are all things which are highly anticipated, but seldom arrive on time.

Deadlines. What a concept. How could anything good come from a deadline? The word itself is deflating. It causes frustration and loss of creativity resulting in a sense of dread rather than one of inspiration. The world would be a better place without deadlines!

We are creatures of habit, however, and the time and space continuum in which we exist demands that we order our lives and tasks according to clock and calendar.

God, our Creator and Sustainer, the Alpha and Omega is eternal. He is gracious, loving, compassionate, forgiving, relational and just. His Word is Truth. His burden is light. His decisions are final.

Not wishing that any should perish, but that all would come to repentance through the blood of Christ, He is patient.

He desires obedience, demonstrates love, deserves reverence, and disregards sin for those who place their faith and trust in him.

And He enforces deadlines.

He knows the number of hairs on our head. He sees the sparrow when it falls to the ground. He sees each tear that we cry and He numbers our days.

We don’t know how many days that we have before we are called to give an accounting for the life that we have lived and choices that we have made, but God does. It’s His deadline.

May we each live in such a way and love in such a fashion that when we reach the deadline of our earthly existence that the response from our Creator will be “well done thou good and faithful servant. Enter now into My rest.”

STATE CONVENTION BENEFITS FOR SBC CHURCHES

You already understand the importance of planning ahead for your retirement years, but what if a simple contribution adjustment now could provide financial protection later?

At GuideStone®, you can enroll in the Southern Baptist Churches 403(b)(9) Retirement Plan — helping you enhance your financial security. And while you invest to protect your future, many state Baptist conventions provide additional valuable benefits based on your retirement plan participation and contributions.

These benefits are designed to help protect you and your family in the event of disability and/or death. You may receive these benefits if you or your church make a $50 monthly contribution to your account and meet the eligibility requirements of your state convention.

State convention benefits include:

• Disability Income Benefit

This benefit provides an income of up to $500 per month if you become disabled — with the maximum payout lasting 60 months (five years). Additionally, $35 is contributed to your retirement account each month of your disability. To be considered eligible, the disability must have occurred prior to age 65. You may contact GuideStone directly to request application forms or to discuss disability income payment options.

• Survivor Protection Benefit

This benefit is paid to your beneficiary if you die prior to retirement. The benefit amount depends upon a participant's age at death but can be as much as $100,000*. It is paid in addition to the accumulations in your retirement account.

• Retirement contribution from your convention

Your state Baptist convention may choose to make an annual discretionary contribution to your account should you and your church meet the respective eligibility requirements of your convention.

Survivor Protection Benefit

YOUR AGE AT DEATH	MAXIMUM BENEFIT PAYABLE*
35 & under	$100,000

2000 Club

Second Quarter 2021

CrossCountry Church
Funds will be used to drill a well.

The purpose of the 2000 Club is to provide funds for selected Alaska Baptist Churches to purchase property, or to renovate or repair their church facilities. Sponsored by the Alaska Baptist Resource Network, the 2000 Club provides a channel through which Southern Baptists work together in a cooperative mission strategy. Funds collected are sent directly to the designated mission project recipient at the end of each month. 100 percent of contributions goes to the recipient for the quarter.

Participating in the 2000 Club is easy! Simply go to our website www.alaskabrn.com, click on the green "Give" button at the top of the page, choose "2000 Club" from the drop-down menu, and in the memo area note for which quarter you are donating or make a one-time gift for all 4 quarters.

If you prefer to give by check, make your check payable to the Alaska Baptist Resource Network and mark it for the 2000 Club. Please note the quarter for which you are contributing. Mail payment to 1750 O'Malley Road, Anchorage, Alaska 99507. For additional information, contact us at 907.344.9627, 800.883.9627, or heather@alaskabrn.com.
